

SOLO Describe ++ (See Think Wonder)

Thinking about this image

What do you see?

I believe I see a sign pointing to the future with a cross through the past. Sort of saying we can't and don't want to go back.

Why do you think it is like that?

I think that it means we can't change the past but we can change the future.

What does it make you wonder?

It makes me wonder what will happen in the future if something goes terribly wrong, but we have come to far to go back.

Overall what do you think the message behind this image is?

I believe the message behind this image is, we can only go on into the future from what we have created, so we can't go back to the past. As a economy we have created, learnt and discovered more than we could ever imagine, we have left the past from riding horses and carriages, to driving cars. If we look into the future we will be not be driving, we will be driven, not by people but by automobiles. If we look into the past and then into what we expect in the future there's no way we will be able to go back to what we used to do. As I said before we can't change the past but we can change the future.
